A SCALP in one hand and the instrument that created the scalp in the other, master-of-collectors Jess McKee poses with just a tiny portion of his unbelievable Indian relic collection. Around his neck is one of his rarest items—a Washington presidential gift medal. This was given, by Washington, to some long-forgotten Indian chief as a token of friendship.

Smithsonian Institute Borrows This Collector's Most Rare Treasures

One day Jess McKee's telephone rang and it was the Smithsonian Institute on the line—they wanted to borrow his shirt. The Smithsonian people recognize Jess as an accomplished collector and they were in search of this shirt for it is a very special shirt.

Specialty Collector

Some youngsters collect marbles and match covers. Older folks collect everything from rocks to diamonds. Jess, who works in 2124, collects Indian relics, muzzle-loading guns, Oriental stamps and natural formation minerals.

Jess's most famous collection, and some say it is the best private collection in the country, is his Indian relics. He has 4,000 catalogued items—everything from scalp locks to his rare Ghost Dance Shirt, one of the two known to be in existence. This is the item the folks at the Smithsonian Institute wanted.

"Grew on Me"

Most of his Indian relics have been acquired through long years of friendship with Indians, mostly Sioux, located on the world's largest Indian reservations in North and South Dakota.

Jess's interest in Indian culture didn't happen all at once. "It sort of grew on me," he says. "I've been collecting for about 27 years, mostly Indian artifacts, because by being sincerely interested in my Indian friends I've had more opportunities than the average collector to pick up rare items."

Tons of Minerals

Among the groups Jess belongs to are the Ohio Indian Relic Collectors, both the Missouri and the Illinois Archeological Societies, and since coming here in 1948 he's joined the Albuquerque Gem and Mineral Club and the Albuquerque Rockhounds Club. Both organizations are headed by Sandians. Dean Wise, 2125, is president of the Gem and Mineral Club and Ralph Calvert, 5132, heads the Rockhounds.

These clubs maintain an encyclopedic knowledge of mineralogy, lapidary, and geology. Jess's mineral collection contains literally tons of minerals—each single piece is a curiosity manifesting some facet of the strange things nature can do with chemicals.

Museum Someday

For sheer lack of house space—Jess has a small ranch in the south valley—most of the collections have to be crated and boxed up most of the time. It's Jess's fondest hope that some day he'll be able to have a private museum.

There he'll display all of his tremendous store of fascinating relics to an equally fascinated public.

A Pat on the Back

Last week the BULLETIN brought together for a brief meeting some 75 employees of the Laboratory who contribute their time and services as reporters, photographers and artists for the paper. These folks have been doing their reporting jobs in addition to their regular duties and have been pretty much unsung and unhonored for their help.

Those of us who are on the staff of the BULLETIN feel a great kinship for these folks and we value their services highly. Their work has made our work more pleasant and the paper more newsy. We thought they should know our sentiments, thus they were our noon-time guests.

These reporters have a task similar to thousands of other employees in industry throughout the country. They help provide information for an industrial publication, but there the similarity ends. Our company is unlike General Motors, Standard Oil Company and the others — it is even unlike our parent company, Western Electric.

First of all few of us with the paper have any detailed information about our company's products. Our company has no sales problem — we have but one customer and no domestic competition. Publicly we cannot point with pride to weapons development accomplishments and delivery schedules we have met, but the occasional public statements of AEC officials indicate that Sandia has met the challenge thus far. The BULLETIN'S big day will be when we can tell the whole story of the tremendously important part Sandia is playing in the defense of our country.

Working under these limitations might well dismay a less enthusiastic group of volunteers. But not our reporters. Their help has brought names, facts and stories into print which might otherwise never have appeared. Their understanding of style, rules, deadlines and news needs has been keen and their performance at times rivaled that of professionals.

The BULLETIN's reporters are now easily recognized by their new desk name plates. Feel free to visit them — they are interested in your news.

The Way We Heard It

Air-Cooled Sombreros

Have you noticed the new and seasonal headgear the security inspectors are sporting? Those ten-gallon straw hats are neat, cool and attractive. This is one season when everyone envies the guards their outdoor work.

The Forest's Prime Evil

Now that the picnic season is at hand the woods are full of nature lovers every week end. How are your camping manners? Do you leave a cleaner camp than you found? Vandalism costs us taxpayers thousands of dollars every year right here in New Mexico when forest employees have to replace stolen fire grates, repair smashed tables, swings, teeter-totters, etc. But we pay also for the extra help required to gather up the scattered cans, to clean out trash-choked fire-boxes and to spray for control of flies drawn by carelessly tossed melon rinds. Be sure to leave your camp just as you'd like to find it next time you picnic.

Reclamation By-Product

Anyone in the market for pigs? Of aluminum, that is. The Reclamation department has called for bids on 252,500 pounds of aluminum pig recovered from scrap metal at our salvage yard. The quality of the pig is such that the government will realize a far greater return by selling it in this form than by disposing of the scrap metal in the fabricated form before separation and reduction.

Beware of the Bandits

Two of our engineers in the East on business had the misfortune of losing substantial sums of money recently when their hotel room was burglarized while they slept. The prowler apparently had a pass key and covered one whole floor during the night. Next time they will take advantage of the convenient plan to obtain travelers' cheques from the Financial Division before going on a vacation or business trip. You can always recover by reporting the loss promptly.

Hugh L. Odell, 5216, and his family spent their recent vacation in Missouri where they visited relatives.

Warren S. Roberts, 5216, presented a paper at the Third Annual Conference of the Society of Photographic Engineers in West Point, N.Y. His topic was Shadowgraph Instrumentation.

Top Bowlers Honored by Major League

MAJOR LEAGUE CHAMPS—Receiving trophies for their season's efforts, the league's best, are these Sandia bowlers. L to R: Bill Nietzel, Willie Reed, Red King, Bob Sturtevant, Dick Heim (making Sandia Corporation awards for Employee Services department), Bill McKinley and Jack Redburn.

Sandia Base Major League bowlers finished their 1952-'53 season with a two-way tie between teams headed by Rupert "Red" King and LeRoy Hassebroek with Red's team winning top honors in the roll-off.

Dick Heim, representing Employee Services department, has awarded the winning team trophies. Members of the winning team, in addition to Red, were Bill Nietzel, Willie Reed, Bob Sturtevant, Bill McKinley and Jack Redburn. Dick also presented Rudy Vinovich a trophy for his high average score for the season, a booming 185.

Byron Stewart was awarded the American Bowling Congress award for the most improved bowler of the season. He raised his average by 16 pins.

The awards were made at a banquet for the league held at the Non-Commissioned Officers Club on the base. LeRoy Hassebroek served as toastmaster and Dale Pipher, league president, assisted in the program.

George Jackson made arrangements for the banquet and the dance which followed.

George was one of the faithful bowlers who did not miss an evening session all season, but fate intervened and he was ill the night of the banquet and could not attend. Other bowlers who had a perfect attendance and were able to be at the dinner-dance were Charles Mills, Don Emrick, Hy Dancy, Max Gasta and Byron Stewart.

The dance which followed the awards dinner was enjoyed by 139 bowlers, their wives and guests.

Bus Breakdown in Death Valley Means Vacation-Time Work

They hadn't planned to work while on vacation, but it turned out that they did.

Helen Smith, 4222, Frances Odle, 1922-2, Jeannette Hervin, 1922-2, and Estelle Muses, 1921-2, were on a recent bus excursion through Death Valley when their vehicle broke down, holding up the large party of vacationers.

They arrived at a little cafe in Death Valley Junction around 9 p. m. just as the tired cook, who had been on the job since 5:30 that morning, was closing the door. It was too late to return to their headquarters for dinner, and the cook was just too tired to turn out meals for the group.

The girls talked the proprietor into letting them take over in the kitchen and an Air Force major volunteered to man the counter.

It was bacon and eggs at 10 p. m. in the desert for a hungry crew of holiday seekers, thanks to our four capable Sandians.

Half Century Old Burro Dies, Was Gold Mine Veteran

If burros could talk Grey Star would have been able to tell quite a story. But animals don't talk and 50-year-old Grey Star, who was owned by C. E. Luker, 2417-2, died recently carrying along with him a lot of New Mexico history.

The burro was acquired by the Luker family after he had been retired from duty in a Sandia mountain gold mine. The last few years of his life he spent being a pet for the Luker children and their friends.

Promotions

Insurance Problems?

Here's Your Chance To Get Some Help

Boyd Hoff

A special service is provided for Sandia Corporation employees who have insurance problems. Following is an account of a discussion which occurred recently between the insurance counselors and a member of the BULLETIN staff. We hope it helps you as it helped us.

Bob Hoff

Boyd and Bob Hoff, Sandia Corporation's insurance counselors, were talking insurance (naturally) with us the other day.

"There are two standards by which to judge a properly organized insurance program," Boyd said, "and one of them, the most important, finds few programs qualifying."

Most folks feel they have enough insurance to do the job they want done, or feel they have all they can afford. However, few people have proper coordination of their insurance program to accomplish these things in the most economical way.

Bob and his brother went on to explain that too many people have planned their insurance program with no regard for their other assets.

"And for Sandia Corporation employees that's important," Bob said, "for even if they own no property they have good assets in the retirement program and their Social Security benefits."

Time wreaks havoc with a once-sound insurance program, they pointed out. Maybe this is the time for "modernization," they said. Then too, too many policy holders don't know what is in their policies.

At this moment we requested an appointment with the Hoff brothers. We wanted to have explained to us what is in those mysterious yet official looking life insurance policies we have accumulated over more than 20 years.

The Hoff's welcome any Sandian to their office for use of their consultation service. Telephone ext. 29261 and arrange for an appointment.

THE CROWN DIDN'T STAY ON VERY LONG, but he was still "King Supreme" of the recent Albuquerque Baby Pageant. Dan Raney, 10-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eden Raney, was selected to reign over the pageant along with two little girls also sponsored by his mother. At left is Demetria Davis, 4, "Supreme Queen," and right is Georgia Jean Humphrey, 3, "Senior Queen." Eden works in 2452.

June Big Month For Members of Coronado Club; Ted Weems Here

June will be a 'bustin' out all over with lots of fine entertainment at the Coronado Club this month.

Heading the list will be the June 7th Club Anniversary Dance featuring Ted Weems and his orchestra, the perennial favorite of "Heartaches" fame.

Club Election

Then on Monday, June 8, is the annual election of the club's board of directors at 7:30 p.m. Free beer and a Dutch Lunch will follow the balloting.

Special events will include a Men's Night on Tuesday the 16th when 13 dramatized films of the Old West and faraway places are slated for showing, 8 to 10 p.m., another free refreshment evening.

Square dancers will have their fling on Friday, June 12, to the music of Pancho Baird and his Santa Fe Rangers and a Juke Box dance will be on the evening of the 13th in the ballroom.

Fun For All

A buffet-dance June 14 will feature a delicious smorgasbord and dinner, entertainment by the Sandialiers, men's chorus, and dancing to Phil Graham's orchestra. The buffet is from 5 to 7 p.m., and dancing will last 'til 10. Admission is $2 per member, $3 for guests.

Don Lesman's orchestra will play for another June dance, from 9 to 1 on Saturday, June 20, admission free to members, $1 for guests.

And one fun-packed evening will be had Saturday, the 27th, when swimming, a chicken dinner with dancing to follow is scheduled to begin at 4:30 p.m. in the patio-pool area. Dinner will be served from 7:30 to 9 p.m. and dancing to the music of Cy Perkins 17-piece Air Force Band will begin at 9.

Reservations Needed

Reservations are required for the dinner at $1.75 per member, $2.75 for guests. Swimming is open to members with monthly or season passes and their guests may swim for 50 cents.

Bingo will be played the 10th and 24th, and each Thursday of the month will bring out the duplicate bridge players. Games start at 7:45 with a charge of 25 cents per player to pay for prizes.

Bridge and Canasta

A Ladies' Bridge and Canasta party is set for Wednesday, June 17, from 2 to 4:30 p.m. This is a new entertainment feature and the charge is 25 cents per player.

Dancing to the music of Charlie Beisel and his organ in the ballroom is slated for June 28 at 7 to 11 p.m., a no-charge event for members and their guests.

Ted Weems Plays At Club Sunday

Coronado Club members and their guests will celebrate the Fourth Anniversary of the club at a dance Sunday, June 7, when Ted Weems and his orchestra will be the attraction of the evening.

Weems, longtime favorite of popular music audiences, brings with him a highly entertaining organization, including Glen West, novelty vocalist, Bonnie Ann Shaw, vocalist, whistler and dancer and the one and only hilarious Red Ingle whose record hits of "Timtayshun" and antics with Spike Jones' orchestra provoked nation-wide laughs not long ago.

The charge will be $1.50 for members, $2.50 for guests and single members may bring one guest at member rates. Reservations can be made at the Coronado Club office at the time of ticket purchase. The informal dance will be from 8 to midnight.

Salton Sea News

A welcome is extended to Thelma Gordon, who has been assigned secretary to Department Manager Ted Sprink, 2480.

Speaking of fishing (and just about everyone at Salton Sea is speaking of fishing) Harry Schnarr and John Bashaw, both 2481-1, report the fish in a local irrigation ditch are giving worms and shrimp a good workout. Harry and John report a catch of 27 bluegill, three channel cat and three carp. The bluegill and channel cat are in the deepfreeze and the carp have made the Base cats happy.

Salton Sea folks extend a welcome to Donald F. Wall and Joe T. Evans, both now in 2483, who were employed during May. Don is a native son of the Imperial Valley and Joe comes from Mississippi to the Land of Sunshine after nine years with the Navy. Don has just completed a 15-month stay in Alaska.

Two young men who are cutting a fine figure here in their new Boy Scout uniforms are Bobby McNabney and Jack Sprink. They are all set for some rigorous hikes in the desert with members of their troop.

Here's More Stamp Show Awards

It runs in the family. Winning philatelic awards that is. This time Joan Barnett, 4222, has won three top awards in a stamp show. Joan's honors were won in the Albuquerque Philatelic Exhibition. Her husband, Frank, who works in 1722, took all three top prizes in the Denver show a couple of weeks previous.

Won With Air Mail

Joan and Frank each has his own collection and she won her three trophies with an exhibit of air mail covers issued by United States. Frank's awards came from a 19th century exhibit of U.S. covers.

The show's top prize, the Everitt Grand Award, came to Joan for the best entry in the entire exhibition. With the air mail entry she also won the Reserve Grand Award for the best entry in the advanced class and a trophy for entering the best air mail exhibit.

Council-Union Dance Tomorrow

It'll be fun and frolic for Sandians when the combined AF of L unions stage their annual Spring dance at the Coronado Club tomorrow night.

Music makers for the big event will be Kirtland AFB's popular 17-piece band. Highlighting the evening will be a drawing for valuable prizes. Tickets are still available, they may be purchased from any union steward—but get them soon, "time's a-wastin'."

The folks in charge of the dance say everyone is welcome—employees, non-employees, military and civilians.

TROPHIES to add to her growing collection of philatelic awards are displayed by Joan Barnett, 4222.

FAMILY NIGHT

Members of the American Society of Tool Engineers and their families will join in a dinner-meeting, 7 p.m. at the Fez Club June 9.

Congratulations!

Meet Your

Sandia Sports Personalities

Sam DeHaan, 2231-1, veteran softball hurler, is playing his fifth season in Sandia softball competition. Sam, a native Chicagoan, came to Sandia in December of '48 and started playing ball in the spring of '49 with the SLR-3 team in the old Sandia Laboratory league. Sam currently is pitching for the Braves in the National division of the Sandia Employees Softball Association.

His biggest thrill in these five seasons came at the final game of the 1952 playoffs when he pitched his team, then known as the Cubs, to a 17-3 victory over the Indians for the '52 championship. The score doesn't tell the story of the game, however, because, up to the final inning, Sam had pitched a perfect no-hitter. Not one of his opponents

FRANK BURMEISTER, 1933-1, shows off a fine catch of fish landed in Florida recently.

Second No-Hitter For Clif Rudy As Indians Win 12-1

Clif Rudy pitched his second no-hit game of the season on May 20 as the Indians downed the Browns 12-1 to highlight league play in the Sandia Employees Softball Association during the past two weeks. A combination of walks and an error gave the Browns their lone run.

Indians' Hopes Soar

The acquisition of Rudy, a new employee in the Plant Engineering Dept., plus the addition of half a dozen other valuable players, has raised manager Ward Hunnicutt's Indians from the league doormat during the '52 season to one of the leading contenders for the '53 crown. Ward's team last season was known as the "Southern Yankees."

Max Gasta's 9th inning homer with Leo White on base broke up a tie game between the White Sox and Yankees on May 15 to give the Yanks their first loss of the season. Jim Schlahta's White Sox weren't quite as fortunate the following week as they dropped a close 6-5 decision to Jerry Olguin's Athletics.

Scores Run High

Except for one relatively close 14-11 score between the Cubs and Phillies, games in the National League have been scoring marathons. The Giants and the Braves lead the pack with five and four victories respectively against no defeats.

reached first base until the seventh inning.

"Hard-to-Hit" DeHaan

This wasn't the only occasion when Sam was hard to hit. Known as the old control wizard, the 36-year-old DeHaan is highly respected by opposing batters for his consistent ability to throw that ball where they can't get a decent swing at it.

The roughest game Sam ever remembers playing was on Saipan in '45 when he was in the Navy. His ship, an LCSL, played another LCSL for its entire store of beer. "No World Series was ever as important as this game was to us," Sam recalls. Who won? Sam's team, of course, but only by the narrow margin of one run.

Although Sam dearly loves softball, he often feels he should retire to some milder form of athletics. At the close of last softball season he was heard to remark, "Dimaggio hung up his spikes; guess I'll hang up mine too! But, long before weather conditions permitted the first cry of "Play Ball!" for the 1953 season, the indestructible De Haan could be seen playing catch during noon hours getting his pitching arm in shape. And to prove that he still is the old control artist, he pitched a shut-out the first league game of the current season.

Pitchers will come and pitchers will go but, in the opinion of his teammates and opponents, Sam De Haan, the old reliable, will be chucking that ball for many a season to come.
