Several Sandia Employees Acting As New Mexico Deputy Game Wardens

With the approach of hunting season, Sandia members of the New Mexico Game Patrol, an Albuquerque conservation organization, were waterproofing their tents and looking over camp gear for their annual trek into New Mexico hunting areas.

Each year Sandia members of the association assist paid wardens of the New Mexico Game and Fish department in patrolling forest areas throughout the state. Commissioned as deputy wardens of the State Game and Fish department, Game Patrol members assist campers in locating good camp sites, in policing camp areas, and in furnishing information as to game limits, seasons, or possible location of game.

Voluntary Group

Ed Amonette, 6010, president, heads the wholly voluntary organization, most of whose members have attended a five-day warden training course conducted by the State Game and Fish department. Ed's wife, Barbara, is the first woman in the state to receive a Game Patrol commission.

Game Patrolmen are authorized to check licenses, where necessary, and possess identical powers of State Game Wardens.

Deadline for application for the new Hospitalization-Surgical insurance is Oct. 31. Those who fail to join up during the initial enrollment period will have to wait until next June for the next enrollment, and by delaying, they will lose certain benefits extended to charter members.

Applying for the insurance is simple. Just follow these easy steps:

1. Read the "Group Hospitalization and Surgical Benefits Plan" booklet which you received recently, or contact your supervisor who has information about the plan.

2. Fill out the enrollment card and hand it to your supervisor who will send it to Jeanne Jolly, 3153, Employee Processing Division.

3. Remember, if you enroll prior to Oct. 15, your November premium will be deducted from your last October paycheck. If you wait until after Oct. 15 to enroll, both the November and December premiums will be deducted from one check in late November. Premiums are payable monthly in advance through payroll deduction.

★ Are You Protected?

So far almost 3,000 Sandia Corporation employees have applied for the new Hospitalization-Surgical Insurance now available. These people will receive the generous protection provided in the plan in case a trip to the hospital is necessary.

One of the best ways to be thrifty is to be prepared for hospital and surgical bills. The plan is an economical way to be ready for that unexpected expense.

ance plan is with the Equitable Life Assurance Society of America and is designed to give Sandia Corporation employees good protection at a moderate premium. Cost to employees is as follows:

Individual employee $2.16 per month
Employee and dependents $7.77 per month.

The protection offered in this group policy for Sandia Corporation employees includes:

Hospital expense insurance.
Surgical reimbursement insurance.
Medical expense benefits.
Polio reimbursement benefits.

Officials of the insurance company have pointed out that the premium for this protection is much lower than what it would be if an individual bought this same policy for himself.

Group insurance, Equitable points out, is cheaper because the purchasers are buying in a large quantity.

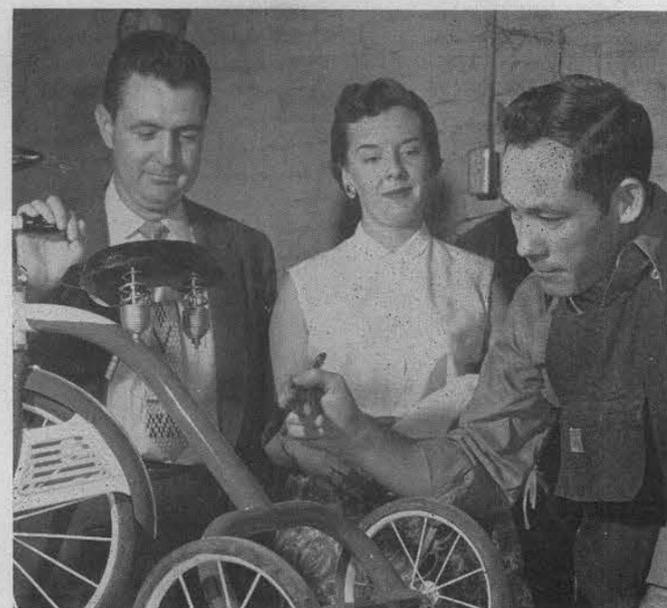

Likewise, the more Sandia Corporation employees who buy this insurance, the more likely will be the chances of a dividend at the end of the year which could be used to provide even greater benefits.

ASTE Members to Hear of Machine Tool Accessories

SANDIANS SAW—An old tricycle looks like new after a skilled—yet handicapped worker—at Goodwill Industries, a Community Chest agency, brushes on the last coat of paint under the approving eyes of Bob Kelly, 1913, Community Chest squad leader, and Roberta Roberts, a Red Feather solicitor in 1900. Both Sandians are now working with a corps of 650 fellow employees to obtain 100% individual participation toward the largest city campaign goal in Red Feather history: $339,573.

It's the Unexpected . . .

"I was going to take a good vacation, but . . ." Famous last words are these for that vacation went a-flying when unexpected hospital and surgical bills wiped away a good-sized nest egg.

A new car may go unpurchased in exchange for the mending of a broken leg. Or the next year at college for son or daughter may turn into a full-time job elsewhere for the young man or woman while Dad pours every dime he has into paying for an injury.

It's always tough to go to a hospital, but the blow is lessened when you know that much of the expense, even if it runs into thousands, will be taken care of by your Hospitalization-Surgical Insurance Plan.

Sign up today—it's the unexpected expense that ruins the bank account.

Fire Prevention—Year-Long Task

Tomorrow the country winds up observance of Fire Prevention Week—it started October 3. Sandia Corporation employees, as well as AEC and Civil Service workers, have had fire prevention brought to their minds by several displays throughout the area.

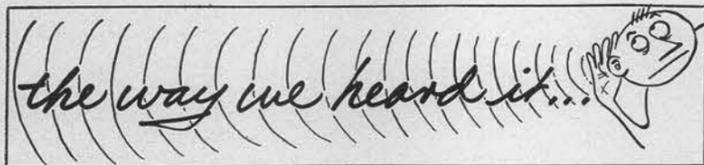

However, fire safety should be observed throughout the year, not for one week only. One week is used for special emphasis in reminding us of the effort, but this effort to avoid fires never ends.

Sandia Corporation has an enviable record when it comes to loss by fire. In nine and one-half months fire damage has been $37.50. The amount of AEC property which has gone up in smoke in past years at Sandia is negligible. That fine record is not the result of one week of concentration on fire prevention. It is the result of year 'round vigilance by the Base fire department, Sandia Corporation Plant Security Department, and each Corporation employee.

If only all loss-by-fire records could be as good as the record of our company! Unfortunately, they are not.

Here are a few figures: There are more than 600,000 building fires in the United States every year; smoking and matches cause 116,000 of these; in the past decade 100,000 people have died by fire; every day there are 33 deaths by fire.

This year's slogan, "Let's grow up—not burn up," can only come true if fire safety is observed throughout the year, not for just one week.

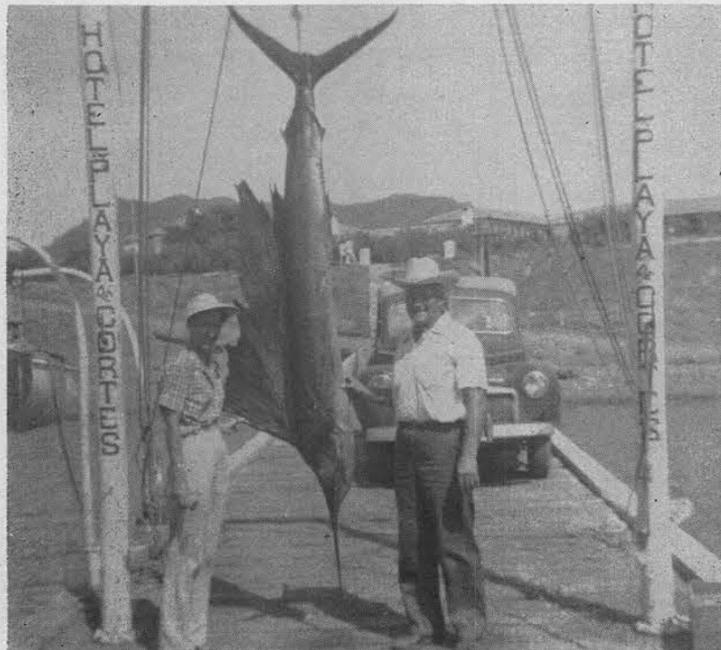

Calico Cat Case

Cally, a top notch mouser in 2223's warehouse, disappeared the other day, but was returned after it was found she had been innocently "cat-napped". Back to her warehouse haunts the feline returned to her rodent routing. Now 2223 is again searching for the cat-gone-AWOL. She took off without a word and co-workers in the building are beginning to miss her presence.

Sympathy

Sympathy is extended to C. V. Osborne, 1333, whose father died Sept. 20 in Oklahoma City.

Sympathy is expressed to Ellen Foster, 2461, whose father died last month.

The Inquiring Reporter Asks:

Other Than Yourself, Is There Anyone You'd Like To Be?

MARYBELLE ARNOLD, 2362: I'm really quite satisfied just being me, but I wouldn't mind changing places with someone who's on vacation in Hawaii! It's always been my life's ambition to go to Hawaii. I'm not too interested in living there permanently, but I'd certainly like to go for a couple of months, at least.

FELIX E. CASTILLO, 2472: I'd enjoy changing places with a cattle rancher. It'd have to be a large ranch, preferably in New Mexico, and be successful—lots of cattle, naturally! I'd like that type of life, the money angle wouldn't be too important, but if the ranch were successful then that, of course, would take care of itself.

JANET R. GOBER, 1925: I'd like to be Dorothy Parker, the writer. She's witty, she's glamorous — and she hates men! If I could change places with anyone, I'd like to be a cynical writer like she is. I am doing some writing on the side, and trying to slant it toward Dorothy Parker's style.

DAN HELD, 4233: I'd rather be myself, but in another's position, if you know what I mean. Malenkov, for one—I'd be in a position then to stop all this world nonsense. I'd like being in his shoes for only the period of time it would be necessary to cure that "cancerous" core on the globe.

LOLA LENZ, 3162: No, there isn't! I have no great ambitions! I'm just happy being myself. I've never even thought of being another person. Of course, I love ballet, and I admire the ballerinas—but I wouldn't care to be one. You'll just have to say I have no imagination, I guess.

MANSFORD DRUMMOND, JR., 5541: I guess I'd like to have been a mathematician in the 18th Century. That was when mathematics underwent such a great development. To pick out one person, for instance, I'd say Euler, a foremost authority on differential equations. Of course, math is my field, so that's why I have the particular interest.

No Weekend-Waster This Tom Banks — Soon He'll Have a Mountain Chateau

Tom Banks of 5423 doesn't fritter away his weekends.

He bangs around with a hammer, saws wood, fills his pockets with nails at a mountain cabin he's building 11 miles north of Jemez Springs in the Santa Fe National Forest.

13 Weeks' Work

He's been at it for 13 weekends. Now, with his wife, Lucille, and 9-year-old water boy, Tommy, he plans the finishing work just before the first frost in the high country.

One of 53 plots at Horseshoe Springs, Tom's cabin is located on a Forest Service lease in the heart of a pine and spruce forest. The aspens are changing now, he says, and startled deer trot through his yard each morning. The feeding noises of trout in the nearby Rio Antonito, Tom says, sound like rain on the river.

Originally, Tom planned a two-bedroom place, but he's settled now for a large one-room unit, measuring 16'x20'. He plans later to add a kitchen and bath. He designed his own plans for the pine log and stone structure.

Local Lumber

He obtains most of his lumber and building needs from a local Jemez mountain sawmill, but hauls cement, cement blocks and wiring from Albuquerque.

"Bill Kingsley of Industrial Hygiene is one of my neighbors," Tom says, "and Ernie Jakl of 5423 is building a fine place on Lot No. 11 of the section."

Tom's place is a short 1 1/2 hour drive from his Albuquerque front door, and now, as it nears completion, he estimates he's put in about $1,000 for the mountain chateau, complete (next spring) with running water, electricity, and a field stone fireplace that rambles across one whole wall.

The Banks family slept in their new retreat for the first time this weekend. With a show of unconcern, Tom says a cat fight in his mountain backyard kept him and his wife awake. But after some reflection he adds pensively, "Come to think of it, those beasts were a little larger than cats."

Charlie Chavez Again Tops Tennis Tourney

Charlie Chavez, 1931, clinched top honors in the Sandia Employees Tennis Association singles tournament last Saturday, trouncing Bill Padilla, 1932, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-4.

Hup Wallis was runner-up in the semi-finals, as was Matt Bull, AEC.

Other Sandians participating in the singles tourney included George Charlie McKeever, 1713, Allan Pope, 5140, Bobby Neeld, 5311, Bill Poole, 5311, and Gaynor Atkinson, 1731.

At the top of the doubles play were Hup Wallis and Charlie Bidwell, 5411, who eliminated the Chavez-Padilla duo, 6-4, 6-2. Runners-up were Bull-McKeever, and Pope-Glaser. Other pairings in the doubles tournament were Neeld-Poole and Atkinson-Everett, 1629.

Last week's tourney play ended the 1954 tennis season, with play scheduled to resume next spring.

Gil Eggert's Article Will Be Published in "Desert"

Standards Engineer Gil Eggert, 1632, who includes article writing among several hobbies, has sold a story to "Desert".

"Adventure in Agate" will appear in a forthcoming issue of the magazine which is published in Palm Springs, Calif. It details a rock hunting expedition in the Apache National Forest in Catron County, New Mexico. Gil's writing hobby paid off for him a year ago, too, when "New Mexico Magazine" purchased one of his articles.

RAY POWELL, 3100, congratulates Harold Thomas, 2562, left, and Stan Torres, 1643, center, for their part in the 1954 softball season. Harold Thomas, assistant manager of the Braves, pitched his team to the post-season tournament championship. Stan Torres is manager of the Senators, winners of the Sandia American league.

DODGERS' MANAGER, Mike Kuliasha, 2441, right, admires the trophy he received for guiding his team to the 1954 softball championship in the Sandia National League as Luther Heilman, 2400, left, and Charlie Campbell, 1900, look on. Mr. Heilman presented the trophies to the members of the Dodgers. Mr. Campbell was the 1954 Commissioner of the softball league.
